Lists Refused Again

They again refused to turn over lists of allied prisoners unless the U. N. command first accepts the communist idea of exchanging all prisoners. Rear Adm. R. E. Libby wanted to know why. He asked:

"Is it because your list contains just a handful of names and you are ashamed to give it to us?"

Lots of Red Prisoners

The reds complained the great majority of prisoners held by the U. N. would not be returned if an exchange were made on a man for man basis as the allies want.

A U. N. spokesman called the communist's remark a slip.

A U.N. command broadcast from Tokyo to Korea again charged that the red secrecy concerning prisoners was "blackmail" to win their armistice demands.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, official allied spokesman, said the rotation of 5,000 troops a month, as proposed by the communists, would be well below the current American rotation level.

Clarification Needed

He said that while the new red proposal appears to follow closely one offered Dec. 3, many points need clarification.

There is a possibility the communists may accept the allied plan for neutral inspectors operating under a joint military armistice commission, he said.

Armory Site Funds Placed in Escrow

Another step in the acquisition of an armory site for Twin Falls was completed Thursday afternoon when the Chamber of Commerce placed $5,780 in escrow for purchase of 5.78 acres of land from the Frontier Riding club. The chamber also has an option for approximately two additional acres of land as a parking area for the proposed armory.

The money was turned over to the Twin Falls Title and Trust company to be paid to the riding club if [illegible] approve the site and if congress authorizes funds for construction of an armory here for national guard and reserve purposes. The deadline of July 1, 1952, can be extended upon agreement between the chamber and the club.

Because of the community nature of the armory project, no escrow fee is being charged. Acquisition of the site, north of the city, was started last June by the Chamber of Commerce as a community project under the chairmanship of Fred Ingraham.

The funds were raised through loans to the chamber by various business establishments and individuals interested in gaining armory benefits for the community. Aside from its military usage, it would provide facilities presently not available for various community activities.

In event construction of an armory here appears to be a dead issue when the escrow agreement expires, the $5,780 will be returned to the chamber for repayment to the various loaners. Both the agreement and the [illegible]

Governor Not Planning New Structure Yet

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Gov. Len Jordan said today that Idaho needs a new state office building to house the various agencies, boards and departments scattered throughout Boise.

Whether he will ask the next legislature for one, he told a reporter, depends on the condition of the state's finances when it meets.

"If Even Have Surplus, In Future

"It's too far in the future to say now," he said.

The matter has been under discussion for a long time by the board of examiners, which has consistently turned down requests by various agencies to erect buildings of their own.

Superintendent of Public Works Tom Bell was expressing the opinion of the board, Jordan said, in saying that such a building was needed.

"There's no question that we need one," Bell said. "Not only to save money, but for more efficient government."

Rent Bill High

He said the state's rent bill is now $70,000 a year.

"Such a building would be especially helpful to people from out in the state who come to Boise and then have to look all over town to locate the office they want.

"I even have trouble, myself, locating some of them."

Bell said he thought land could be obtained near the capitol building for erecting an office building.

PRODUCER RELEASED

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 14 (AP)—Movie Producer Walter Wanger was ordered released today on $5,000 bail in the shooting of the agent of his wife, Joan Bennett. "I shot him because he broke up my home," Wanger was quoted by Police Chief Clinton Anderson. Jennings Lang, 39, was reported in "good condition" after delicate surgery necessitated by a bullet wound in the groin.

GOP Demands Follow Truman 'Cleanup' Bid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Republicans met President Truman's assertion he is taking continued action to clean up the government with demands today for cabinet dismissals, a new congressional inquiry and a 1952 election test of the issue.

Senator Taft, R., O., expressed doubt last night that the administration "can ever succeed in reforming itself." Taft, a candidate for the Republican nomination, added in a Cincinnati press conference:

"Nothing President Truman can do now will prevent indignation of the people at what has already occurred."

In Chicago, the administration theme was carried along in a speech by Democratic National Chairman Frank McKinney. He said that where wrongdoing exists it is being uncovered, rooted out and punished by Democrats.

Sees Stronger Nation

And Senator Smathers, D., Fla., said in a statement that the country will emerge stronger and healthier from a cleanup. He said inquiries ought not to be allowed to become "entirely political and selfish."

Senator Nixon, R., Calif., told a reporter in regards Mr. Truman's declaration of yesterday that he has been acting continuously to keep the government clean as "telling the country there will be no cleanup."

"Minimum" Program

"A minimum program certainly should call for firing Harry Vaughan, Donald Dawson, Attorney General McGrath and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder," Nixon said. "Instead, the President appears determined to keep them, so he can rely on their advice in determining what action he should take."

Vaughan, the President's military aide, admitted accepting a gift of seven home freezers. Dawson denied he was linked to a White House ring which sought to influence RFC loans. McGrath and Snyder have official responsibilities in connection with tax collection scandals now being aired in a house hearing.

Phone Charge Boost Okayed For Richfield

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Idaho public utilities commission has approved a telephone rate increase for the Richfield telephone company.

"This commission could deny the application on the present record, but to do so would also be denying this territory adequate and reasonable telephone service," the PUC order said.

Edward L. Striegel, owner of the company, said in his application the increased revenue would be used to attract additional capital to expand and reconstruct the plant, including 15 miles of rural lines, replacement of old style telephones and addition of 70 new customers.

The PUC said that Richfield "has never had adequate telephone service" from inception of the company in 1907 until the present time.

The PUC said it "cannot find a value of the property for rate making purposes." The order said Striegel listed an investment of $30,480 in his application of Aug. 1, but on April 1 when the firm was sold by Fred Bosher, the transaction indicated an investment of $11,098.

Dry, Anyway

If the roof of your house leaks, the weather forecast for the next five days will be good news for you. But if your furnace hasn't been kicking out enough heat, better put on another sweater.

The five-day forecast, short and to the point, says: "Temperatures below normal, no precipitation indicated."

"Below normal" temperatures for December can be slightly chilly.

Woman Races 15 Miles to Return Child To Parents After He Falls From Auto

MERIDIAN, Miss., Dec. 14 (AP)—A 54-year-old woman said today she thought she would never catch up with a speeding couple to return a crying 2-year-old boy who had fallen from their station wagon.

Mrs. D. Middleton, wife of a Meridian railroad switch engine foreman, said she raced 15 miles down a lonely highway at an 80-mile speed "with my heart in my throat" before overtaking the amazed parents.

Mrs. Middleton said she saw something fall to the Richton-Laurel highway from the back of the station wagon.

"When I got to the spot, there was this little blond-haired boy, sitting smack in the middle of the highway," she said. "I picked him up and looked him over to see if he was hurt, but he only had a little scratch on his hand.

Mrs. Middleton said the station wagon was "out of sight" when she returned to her automobile with the screaming boy.

"I lit out after them with my heart in my throat," she said. "I just knew I would lose them."

She said she almost caught the car several times, "but when I blew my horn for them to stop, the father just speeded up."

"He probably thought I was some fool woman driver who didn't know what she was doing.

"When I finally got him to stop, he jumped out of the station wagon as if he were mad and ran over to my car. Then the little boy pointed up on the front seat and you should have seen his face."

"Where in the world did you get my baby?" she said the man asked her. "I told him I picked him up where you threw him away."

Mrs. Middleton said the parents, who identified themselves only as Mr. and Mrs. Morgan of Utah, believed they had failed to fasten the back door of the station wagon after stopping on the side of the highway.

Resigned Counsel Admits Probe Tip, Dropping of Case

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP) — Charles Oliphant, resigned chief counsel of the internal revenue bureau, admitted today he tipped off T. Lamar Caudle that his income tax returns were under investigation by Sen. John Williams, R., Del.

In the witness chair of house tax investigators, Oliphant also acknowledged that he let a tax prosecution case drop because of the interest of a member of congress, Rep. James Morrison, D., La. He said he did it despite instructions from his own boss that the case should be pressed.

The "tip" Oliphant passed to Caudle was brought out under questioning from Representative Byrnes, R., Wis.

Byrnes said Caudle told the investigators in a secret session last Nov. 2 that Oliphant had given him that word and also had warned him that a house committee wanted his tax returns.

Denies Accusation

Oliphant denied that he had told Caudle the committee had requested his tax papers.

But in a low, expressionless voice, Oliphant said:

"I told him Senator Williams had asked for his returns."

Williams for months has been conducting a personal and independent inquiry into tax irregularities.

Some of the senator's friends credit him with being mainly responsible for the present congressional digging into how the federal tax collecting service has been run.

Demands Information

When Oliphant denied he told Caudle the committee had asked for his tax returns, Byrnes demanded to know how Caudle knew "this committee had his income tax returns, which it then had not, Nov. 2."

"I could not say, sir. I did not tell Mr. Caudle that your committee had asked for his tax returns," Oliphant said.

Caudle was fired last month as an assistant attorney general. In dismissing him, President Truman gave as his reason that Caudle's "outside activities" were incompatible with his official duties.

Activities Probed

With Caudle in its witness chair, the committee has gone extensively into his activities, including such things as airplane trips to Florida as the guest of a business man in tax troubles, a $5,000 commission on the sale of an airplane, and certain associations which committee members have denounced as questionable.

The case involving Morrison was that of the Washington Beef and Provision company for 1942 tax deficiencies.

Another One

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—A tax lien for $51,157.71 was filed today by the internal revenue bureau against Henry W. Grunewald, mystery man of the current tax scandal hearings.

The lien was aimed at 1950 income taxes allegedly owed by Grunewald and his wife, Christine.

A lien is a legal action tying up a taxpayer's assets to a certain amount to guarantee that when the government completes its tax case, the taxpayer would be able to pay up. After the lien is filed the government continues its collection effort, which can be delayed considerably by court fights.

Telephone Lines Snapped by Ice

Officials at the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company here Friday announced that ice on wires has caused considerable damage to telephone lines between here and Gooding. No estimate was given as to how long it will be before normal service will be restored.

In order to reach Gooding by telephone Friday it was necessary for operators to route calls around through Salt Lake City.

The ice on the wires, combined with fairly high winds, caused 16 poles to topple and broke numerous lines. There are 35 men working on the wreckage in order to restore service as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, Fairfield reports that a dense fog left almost two inches of rime on telephone and power lines in Camas county Thursday night.

Preliminary Draft Completed Here on New Traffic Rulings

Completion of the preliminary draft of a new city traffic code was announced Friday by R. J. Schwendiman, chairman of the board of city commissioners. He said more than 400 hours of work by special city and Twin Falls Safety council committees went into the revision of the old traffic code.

Schwendiman said more persons spent more time on this most extensive major revamping of a city ordinance than on any previous change in ordinances in recent months. The new ordinance completely revises the present code to cover traffic, pedestrians, parking meters, bicycles, speed limits and traffic lanes.

Copies of the preliminary draft are being studied by city commissioners, safety council committeemen and city officials, who will meet late this month to work out final details. First reading of the new ordinance is planned for early January.

The new code is based upon a model traffic code prepared by a national organization of traffic engineers and upon the traffic codes of Boise, Idaho Falls and Pocatello, adapted in the light of local conditions. Schwendiman pointed out traffic conditions and problems have changed since passage of the old code years ago.

Describing the process by which the original draft was prepared, the

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—John Stewart Service, long a controversial figure in American diplomacy and a target of pro-communism charges, was fired by the state department last night. The department acted after the government's highest loyalty review board ruled there was a "reasonable doubt" as to his loyalty.

The ruling, dating back to the famous "Amerasia" case of 1945, was based on the board's finding that Service gave secret documents at that time to a magazine editor whom the board said Service suspected of communist leanings or connections.

In reaching its decision, the review board reversed a finding of a state department's own loyalty security board which had been favorable to Service on the basis of the same evidence.

A state department announcement of the dismissal, which becomes effective at the close of business today, expressed no agreement with the review board's conclusion. It made clear that the department had no choice in the matter in view of that conclusion.

Fender Court Action

Service labeled the action as "a shock, a surprise, an injustice" and said that on the basis of his record there could be no doubt of his loyalty. He and his attorney, Charles E. Rhetts, were understood to be considering court action, which presumably would not run the full course of government procedure, might be taken into court.

The Amerasia case developed more than six years ago. The magazine "Amerasia" was edited by Philip C. Jaffe of New York who became associated with Service after the diplomat returned home from one of his tours of duty in China.

Subsequently a number of classified government documents, chiefly from the state department, were found in the Amerasia offices. Jaffe, Service and four other persons were arrested on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage.

Three Indicted

Jaffe and two others were indicted on a lesser charge—conspiracy to remove government documents illegally. The editor pleaded guilty and was fined $2,500.

But the other three persons, including Service, appeared before the grand jury and it refused to indict them. The diplomat then was reinstated in the foreign service from which he had been suspended.

Court Action Ends on Old Traffic Case

Magic Valley court action on traffic offenders centered in Jerome Thursday with completion of a case started Aug. 17 and setting of a trial date in another case.

A. R. Hukings, 160 York street, Twin Falls, pleaded guilty to an improper passing charge brought Aug. 17, and was fined $30 and costs by Probate Judge Theron Ward.

A John Doe complaint was signed last August by Ernest Wodtke who furnished the car's license number. Hukings was represented by Benoit and Benoit, local attorneys, who filed a demurrer. The demurrer was withdrawn Thursday and the guilty plea was entered.

In the Jerome police court of Cecil Stanhope a Utah man was released on $50 bond following his plea of innocent to a charge of negligent driving. He is Marvin Greenway, Ogden, Utah.

Greenway was cited by Jerome police following a collision Wednesday night on Lincoln avenue north. After he pleaded innocent, Judge Stanhope set Dec. 18 as the date for trial.

A minus 30 at West Yellowstone, Mont., was the coldest point in the west. Other sub zero temperatures early today included 17 below at Big Piney, Wyo.; 13 below at Idaho Falls and Bemidji, Minn. The weather bureau predicted colder temperatures tonight.

The cold air extended across the northern plains eastward to the northern Great Lakes region to New England. It was mild from Texas eastward to Florida.

T. F. Finishes First Draft of Traffic 'Code'

chairman said at least nine meetings were held each Monday morning for commissioners, safety council committee members and city officials.

In addition the city group met each Tuesday morning to draft an entire section for presentation to the general group the following Monday. Members of the general group then studied these sections, took them back to their organizations and suggested changes at the following Monday meeting.

Principal changes include revision of speed limits and reassignment of through streets. There is little change in parking meter provisions. Some changes already have been made, such as bringing trucks in on Washington street north instead of Blue Lakes boulevard north.

Another change already made is transferring bicycle licensing from the city clerk to the police department, where a thorough inspection is made of each bicycle before it is licensed, Schwendiman said. The city plans to devote two of its radio programs to explanation of the new ordinance.

Members of the safety council committee assisting in preparing the new ordinance are Clarence Ford, chairman, Ray Personius, Jim Sholton, Jim Dunning, Vernon Hulbert and Howard Keiso.

City officials who worked on the revision include Ballelsen, city attorney; Howard Gillette, police chief; Frank Barnett, traffic sergeant; Vincent Young, city engineer and director of public works, and William R. Smith, city manager.

A car and a pickup truck crashed together at a rural intersection two miles south and a mile west of Buhl at 11:10 a.m. Thursday but no serious injuries resulted.

Driver of the automobile was Frank Zagata, 36, route 1, Buhl. Adolph Blake, 53, route 4, Buhl, driver of the pickup, received a cut on his hand when his truck overturned following the crash. Both drivers told the investigating officer they failed to see the other vehicle approaching. He estimated damages at $250 to the 1941 coupe Zagata was driving, and at $200 to the 1950 pickup.

Shortly after noon Wednesday an auto driven by Arlene Todd, 23, Castleford, skidded out of control on an icy road two and one-half miles south of Buhl. The car spun around and slid into a borrow pit bruising the driver. Damage was estimated at $100.

An intersection collision at 1:20 p. m. Thursday at Third avenue and Second street east caused slight damage to cars driven by Clyde L. Guffey, 1225 Sixth avenue east, and Ted Davis, Carey.

ment and the loans can be extended, chamber officials pointed out, if the necessary army and congressional approval appear imminent.

Repayment of the loans is planned through proceeds of dances, roadshows and other community activities to be sponsored by the chamber or by an armory operating association. Cost of the proposed structure is estimated at $300,000 to $400,000.

Establishment of universal military training would add impetus to the armory program across the nation, chamber and military officials stated. Following active duty in the armed forces, trainees would revert to national guard or reserve status, which would greatly increase the size of this area's units and require armory facilities unavailable now.

Signing or witnessing signatures on the escrow agreement and deed were Hamer Adams and LeRoy Arrington, riding club president and secretary; Ralph Nivelo, Ryman and Howard W. Moffat, chamber president and secretary; Gordon Gray and Leo Anderson, title company president and secretary; Col. James C. Leighton, commander of the national guard 116th armored cavalry regiment, and chairman of the armory board of trustees for the state of Idaho, and Ingraham.

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Suits

Two Twin Falls county women filed divorce actions in district court Thursday, both charging extreme cruelty.

Edna M. Bessette claims that Edwin H. Bessette drinks excessively, gambles and beat her on several occasions. They were married Nov. 2, 1949, at Elko, and have a daughter and a son.

Mrs. Bessette asks custody of the children, $200 a month temporary alimony and support, $150 for her attorneys, Blandford and Blandford, and $25 costs. Pending the outcome of the suit, she seeks an order restraining her husband from molesting her or taking the children.

Arlene Fahrenholz Radford filed suit against Lyal Radford whom she married Aug. 13, 1950, in Twin Falls. They have no children or community property.

Excessive drinking and threats of bodily injury are reasons listed by Mrs. Radford for wanting a divorce. Earl Walker is her attorney.

Land Case Rule Upheld by Court

A supreme court decision handed down Wednesday upheld a previous district court decision here which gave Arthur E. Glander clear title to a quarter section of land near Castleford.

Glander began the action against his sister, Gladys C. Glander, and his brother, W. W. Glander, both of whom would benefit from a quit-claim deed which disturbed quiet title to the land.

W. W. Glander filed a disclaimer in the action renouncing any right in the property but the sister held out for an undivided one-half interest in the property and appealed a district court decision to the Idaho supreme court.

The supreme court concluded that the quit-claim deed on which the sister based her case had never been delivered to her and hence title to the property did not pass to her.

Four supreme court justices and a district court judge concurred in the decision.

190,000 Cans of Food Tallied In Canning Kitchen's Season

More than twice as many cans of food were processed at the Twin Falls County Canning Kitchen this year as in the 1950 season, according to Edna L. Smith, office manager.

This year's total was 190,000 cans as compared to 91,000 last year and 97,000 the first year of operation. The manager pointed out that the 1951 run was an unusually heavy season which taxed the capacity and equipment of the kitchen.

A total of 965 patrons registered while 4,200 patrons used the kitchen. The largest day came when 106 people canned 4,000 cans of food. The average was 2,000 cans per day.

Community services of the kitchen included 439 cans of food donated by patrons to Bill Hopple, Buhl polio victim, and about 600 cans of popcorn prepared for the Red Cross to be sent overseas.

There are 686 holders of common stock. Dale Jakway was engineer this year. Mrs. Edna Kemp, Mrs. Maude Eisenman and Mrs. Goldie Leonard were in charge of cooking.

AMERICANS HELD CAPTIVE

Four more Americans are now trapped behind the iron curtain. They were, of course, the crew of the U. S. transport plane, bound for Yugoslavia that was forced down by Russian planes in Hungary.

The Russians have gone to their customary elaborate lengths to establish that these four are "spies and saboteurs" bent upon fomenting trouble in the Soviet union or her satellites. Actually, they were on a routine air force flight carrying supplies from Munich to the American embassy in Belgrade.

Apparently the plane did blunder across the Hungarian border. At any rate, on the day it disappeared the crew reported being fired on by Hungarian border guards. But the Russians are not disposed to be generous about such a navigational error.

To them, an off-course U. S. plane spells opportunity. It means a chance to add one more chapter in their continuing fantasy that the U. S. and its western allies are "plotting" against the Soviet union and the satellites.

If the Kremlin could not offer this dream stuff periodically to its subjects, it would have increasing difficulty in maintaining the repressive measures and crushing economic burdens that accompany its heavy defense preparations. Constantly posing the threat of "outside plotters" makes it easier for Moscow to win acceptance—or at least tolerance—of these restrictions.

Thus the four-man transport crew should be bracketed with William Oatis, Associated Press correspondent imprisoned by Czechoslovakia, and the rest of the estimated 75 U. S. citizens known to be in jail or under restricted arrest in satellite lands.

All are victims of the ruthless necessities of a tyrant's policies. They are victims, too, of Russia's genuine though pathological fear of either letting the truth about its domain get out or the truth about the free world get in.

There is little question Moscow seeks to discourage by every means possible the entry into the communist orbit of Westerners who can bring in accurate accounts of life outside and take away similar stories of what they see behind the curtain.

State department records indicate 6,000 Americans living either in Russia or the satellites. Some are there because their jobs compel it; others want to be. Some lead what the department calls an "anonymous existence."

Most of these are potential prey of the communists, as are any who may later pass into red territory intentionally or accidentally. All are entitled to the U. S. government's full protection.

The department says U. S. diplomats are doing everything they can to win freedom for the 75 imprisoned or arrested Americans. Naturally this must hold true also for the newly seized airmen.

But let no one imagine the task is easy.

Presumably we are not prepared to go to war to free these citizens. Short of that, we can only confront the reds with a combination of counter-measures which we must hope in time will be effective arguments in bargaining for the Americans' liberty.

THEY'LL GET BY

According to Angelo Tozzi, a small manufacturer of metal parts from Bayonne, N. J., who has been in business since before World war I, Washington doesn't need all the congressional committees and government agencies which have been created to help small businesses get in on the defense effort.

He came to town to explain that he didn't think that big business was trying to hog all defense orders and that it was easy to get subcontracts from big firms and to do business with them.

He explained:

"Big business needs us small fellows just as much as we need them and wants us to stay in business to make use of our special know-how. We can do things they can't do and they know it.

"I've always gotten plenty of contracts without help of five percenters or committees. All you have to do is prove that you can do the job you say you can."

While he was saying this the Pentagon revealed that small businesses were getting 75 per cent of all government defense orders.

STINGING CRITICISM

Relations between the postoffice and a union representing letter carriers has reached a new low. Seldom has the language of a top government official against the head of a union become as vitriolic as the recent words of Walter Myers, assistant postmaster general. Speaking to a group of district postmasters he said:

"The elected head of an employes' union has become afflicted with a combination of diseases—a bad spleen, St. Vitus dance of the tongue and dementia anti-Donaldson.

"Because he fancies himself a worm that can sing about a river and its mud, he tries to put on a concert with each slightest excuse. He brings the department into disrepute by abusing the postmaster general and setting up his own two by four ideas as policies."

It would be a better world if as many people lent a hand as are willing to give advice.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark so far has declined to appear before the King subcommittee to explain why he permitted personal friendship to lead him to name Theron Lamar Caudle to two of the highest legal posts in the federal government, and then tolerate unethical practices which have made the ousted official a shabby, central figure in the current tax scandal.

Ray Tucker

It is not only the house investigators who would like the answer to that question, which is heard in the capitol hill, in cabinet circles and in Washington's drawing rooms.

The real reason for President Truman's unexpected curtailment of his Key West vacation was his anxiety to get to the bottom of the Clark-Caudle-Oliphant affair, and to stave off further public indignation by explaining it and cleaning up the mess.

COMPLACENCY — Committee Chairman King has repeatedly he would be glad to hear Clark's explanation for one of the worst and least justified appointments to high office in recent years—an appointment which has led to revelations of executive complacency that may defeat the Democrats next year.

But King does not care to humiliate the Texan, as likable a party-goer and handshaker as Caudle himself, by making an issue for his enforced appearance. There is no hard-and-fast precedent against such a course, however.

Thus it is probable that there may be no official answer to Clark's silence and the nation's $64 question:

"How could such a gullible, hysterical and stupid fellow as Caudle be named as head of the criminal and tax division of the department of justice by Clark, and kept there by Attorney-General McGrath?"

APPOINTMENTS—In lieu of Clark's refusal to cooperate with the King committee, which is restricted to investigation of tax matters, the committee and justice department records must be relied upon to reveal how this and equally important appoints have been made at Washington in recent years. In interviews with newspapermen, the loquacious Caudle corroborates these files.

In deed, Caudle's career and spectacular advancement might be entitled, "How men should not be appointed to high federal office."

It should be noted, significantly, that Caudle's is not a unique case. There are scores of officials in important positions, including Roosevelt holdovers and Truman selections, who had almost as few qualifications as he did.

JUVENILE—Caudle is the sort of breezy backslapping and handshaking fellow who is the envy of his schoolmates. Even now, at 47, his tall, trim figure, his graying hair, his tendency toward overdressing and his floridly juvenile speech reflect the perennial collegian who never grows up.

He was president of his high school class in the small town of Wadesboro, in southwest North Carolina, for four years, and president of the student association at Campbell. Although the records do not show it, he probably was voted "the most popular" and "the most likely to succeed." He seems to have tried to justify this estimate.

OPPORTUNITY—On graduation in 1926, he entered into country practice with his father in Wadesboro, which offered limited opportunity for legal exhibitions. When he was named solicitor for the sort of county court to handle misdemeanors and hold preliminary hearings on felonies, he did part-time work on the job for eight years.

Meanwhile, he picked up with the Young Democrats. In 1938 he campaigned locally for "Bob" Reynolds for U. S. senator. "Roaring Bob" was an utter demogogue, and the late Huey P. Long's closest crony in the capital city first met when "Bob" ran a roller-skating rink, and "the kingfish" was the champion customer and skater.

FRIENDSHIP—On Reynold's recommendation, Caudle was appointed United States district attorney for the western district of North Carolina in 1940. He got the call, although an experienced man in the office had the endorsement of 27 of the 29 county bar associations in the area.

It was then that his friendship with Justice Clark began. When the latter visited western Carolina for judicial conferences, he cruised around with the Caudles. They attended dinners, cocktail parties and similar affairs, and sometimes went deer hunting. The Caudles always were entertained by the Clarks on their visits to Washington. Caudle and Clark made friends easily.

In 1945, on the basis of this intimacy, Clark phoned Caudle to announce that he was to be named an assistant attorney general. As the North Carolinian says, he was stunned by the honor, for it "just seemed as if the wheel had stopped and hit me."

This simile explains a lot about Caudle's gambles in oil, mink coats, free rides, his paid-for vacation in Italy on private law business, his $5,000 commission on the sale of an airplane to a questionable "private eye" involved in a tax case Caudle was handling.

CHARACTER—Justice Clark apparently knew of these deals, for almost everybody else in the justice department did. Caudle's associates were worried about them. But Clark never cautioned his aide, although he did refuse to enter a joint wildcatting operation because of the shady character of Caudle's partner, Frank Watkins, Pittsburgh.

Indeed, far from warning Caudle or requesting his resignation, Clark placed him in charge of the tax division after the North Carolinian "got tired" of working on criminal assignments. Again, it "seemed as if the wheel had just stopped and hit me," for Caudle admits he had never handled a tax case, or made out any income return except his own rather simple report, previously.

That's the Clark-Caudle saga.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

STILL THE GEM STATE

Idaho, the Gem state, whose history began with the story of mining, seems about to enter a new era.

In the Cascade basin, monazite—a rare mineral vital in the manufacture of jet-powered engines—has been discovered in quantities sufficient to keep the entire country supplied for many years, according to State Mine Inspector George McDowell.

Also, monazite processing yields valuable by-products —ilmenite, which is a titanium ore; thorium, a fissionable mineral probably useful in atomic energy projects; and zircon, important to the ceramics industry. Garnet is also being recovered in the Cascade area.

Nature, before man existed, lavishly endowed the good earth of Idaho with gold and silver, lead and zinc, copper and phosphates. Gold was found near Orofino in 1860—the very name Orofino is Spanish for "fine gold"—and silver was discovered at Coeur d'Alene in 1884.

Lewistown's early history is the history of miners and pack trains and gold dust; Chinese and whites, all staking their fortunes on the search for gold.

But this is an age of science, a day of jet power and atom fission. And the rare gifts of the earth now are such things as monazite and thorium and titanium.

So Idaho perhaps faces a new era. But, even in the jet and atomic age, it is still the Gem state. Its riches are still in its forests and valleys and farms—and rugged mountains.—Lewiston Tribune.

ENEMY OF BIGOTRY

B'nai B'rith, the world's oldest and largest Jewish service organization, is engaged now in observing its 108th anniversary and we take the occasion to wish it well.

The service order was founded by 12 Americans of Jewish faith in 1843. Today its rolls embrace a total of nearly 400,000. It serves the community and nation in the fields of welfare, education and religion, but perhaps its main target through the years has been the destruction of bigotry, in demolishing racial and religious conflicts. B'nai B'rith has contributed mightily to the American ideal.—San Francisco Chronicle.

POT SHOTS

UNUSUAL WEATHER

Dear Pot Shots:

In answer to "Quite Curious" he has been known to bet on that gambling license because this is no cinch and only cinch bettors obtain licenses in order to make it legal. However, early December sub-zero weather is unusual here.

I have not resided here long enough to obtain government records. I am just a newcomer to Idaho, but as I remember it, Dec. 9, 1911; Dec. 12, 1920; Dec. 2, 1932, and Dec. 7, 1941, came right down close to sub-zero. Particularly Dec. 7, 1941. I know it was colder here than it was in Honolulu because I drove with a blowout tire from the cemeteries to the Five Points meat market. Dec. 7. It was so cold the wheel rim did not touch the ground until the Japanese blew the lid hours later.

What reminds me, I was reminiscing with a friend at Rogerson Aug. 11, 1950, recalling happenings, dates, etc., when the friend remarked, "I don't see how you remember those dates so well."

The gray-haired man operating the store looked up, smiled and said, "When you have been through the crusher a few times, you remember the milestones along the way better." I agreed.

IT'S JUST A SHAME

Sir:

I think it's a shame that a city the size of Twin Falls isn't able to have a city bus! Can't some provision be made in the city's budget to help finance a project that helps from 160 to 200 people daily? The city bus did just that. I hope it will be considered as I am one of the 200 who needed the bus badly.

WOOD AVAILABLE

Pot Shots:

The city appreciates the praise of Cutem, Sawem, Splitem and Burnem and hastens to answer the inquiry regarding the availability of discarded logs and limbs for personal use.

We feel it would be unwise to reopen the former city dump as a location for disposing of and obtaining logs and large limbs. The city does not bury these items at its new sanitary-fill but rather stacks them away from the trenches for supervised burning at stated intervals.

Anyone is welcome to drive out to the fill five miles south of town and help themselves to this wood providing they come between the hours of 9 and 5:30 any day of the week. This city is now using the former dumping area as a street material mixing yard and there is little doubt that it if were opened for any other purpose the people would again start carrying garbage and rubbish into this area.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

". . . Herbert says he'll stay home every Sunday after the next one, as hunting season must be nearly over."

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

LONDON—As we waited for Mr. Speaker to step off his grandiose progress into the house of commons, I fell to discussing with one of the Rt. Hon. gents, a laborite, or more honestly, a socialist, a deplorable incident a day or so before. Overwrought in debate, a brother had put up a noisy row and finally had been "named."

Wethrash Pegler

Was it bad to be "named"? Oh, yes, indeed. It is a reproach, always implying disorderly conduct. When one has been "named" just so many times he is expelled and his constituents are left without an agent and, in that sense, disfranchised.

My socialist was a genteel fellow who did not hold with heeling or hitting on the breaks. In fact, he allowed himself a mild sneer at free-for-alls in the French chamber of deputies and said it had been a long time since any member had socked another in the house of commons.

His timing of this comment was fault as we shall see.

In the last fracas that I could recall in our commons some ancient cotton-belt solon took a swing at Ad Sabbath, Chicago, for the nonagenarian catchweight title and missed and both were carried out suffering from shock.

"Strangers," meaning the people who elect this august body with its disgraceful element of kept agents of the unions and other moneyed interests, are excluded from the daily prayers, a religious gala which, with its measured footwork and bowing this way and that, might have been the basis for the dance of the penguins.

However, I invite no comparisons with the official invocations over our lawmakers so like the rapid rigmarole of the radio auctioneer and resented, even so, as a waste of time.

I find no reason stated for the exclusion of the people of Britain from the praying which they pay for, but the possibility always must be considered that some ancient queen reckoned that it was much too good for them and established a venerable quirk.

The prayer now being over, we strangers climbed 31 steps to a visitors' gallery, a steep bank of long benches looking down on a serio-comic scene of outlandish courtesy mingled with other manners that the cops wouldn't stand for in the Union station in Kansas City.

There is a custom practiced by the gilted leaders of both great parties, of sliding down onto the back of the neck and planting the feet against the table on which the mace of royal authority rests on a wooden rack.

Winston Churchill, a stubby little fellow, very white now by the way, did not afford this day at least and my measuring eye ruled that he couldn't make the reach.

It was, as I say, not the ideal occasion for my friend, the genteel socialist, to take a dig at the French chamber for the book-throwing, tripping and kicking which loose their legislative juices. For this was the day that a socialist lady from Liverpool, a warrior type with the build of a Japanese wrestler, said a Rt. Hon. Gent. on the tory side had insulted her late husband, and now challenged him to step outside.

If he did step outside, the Rt. Hon. Lady said, she would belt him over in two seconds.

The Times solemnly related that Mrs. Beasie Braddock, Liverpool, "was observed sitting in her place wearing an opera hat to raise a point of order."

This is a ritualistic antic which, like love, defies explanation. Down until the first World war, commons were plug hats, but nowadays, although there is still no rule against sitting in the chamber with a hat on, it is no longer done.

By some process in the meanwhile, a low-comedy opera hat appeared in the house, possibly a prop from an old music hall act, and now custom holds that a member wishing to raise a point of order must find it and clap it on to notify the chair.

Thus, we find the robust Mrs. Braddock snorting under the hat to ask "whether it was in order for a member to punch her."

"The speaker," said the Times, "said it was completely out of order for any member to punch another and, when there were cries of 'Name'?, Mrs. Braddock said it was Mr. Colegate, conservative member for Burton-on-Trent.

"Mrs. Braddock described an incident during which, she said, she heard Mr. Colegate having an argument with another member to whom she made a comment, and was immediately pushed on the left shoulder. She added that if it had happened that the member concerned would not have been on his feet for two seconds. Mr. Colegate assured Mrs. Braddock that she was mistaken.

"Mrs. Braddock then said she would accept an apology and Mr. Colegate assured her that he would withhold no words which would help maintain friendly relations between the members."

The Express said Mr. Colegate had taken a dig at the nasty manners of socialists and that one of them, a Mr. Sturmer, the member for Sparbrook, immediately "squared up," presumably to fight. Mr. Sturmer is only five feet-six and Mr. Colegate is well over six feet.

Mrs. Braddock gets measured for width, not height. Her indignation was the worse because someone on the tory side had muttered "dirty dog" just as she was socked or pushed, if any.

I was warned not to disclose any pen, pencil or note paper in the visitors' gallery. It appears that the taking of notes is the exclusive privilege of the reporters for the newspapers and for Hansard, the official record, which, by the way, has no such ancient record as I had thought but after a jerky career, often as a very unreliable journal, has now reached a high position.

It is still, however, not verbatim but an editorial report in which grammatical slips and repetition are ironed out and "the sense of the speech" is preserved by the reporter.

It is, like our Congressional Record, privileged matter for general publication but, unlike the Record, cannot be used by blackguards of the party in power to cover with legislative immunity all manner of dirty aspersions on decent men among the political opposition.

Mail at Once to Assure Delivery, Postmaster Says

The cooperation of last-minute shoppers is requested by Postmaster W. W. Frank. The postmaster says that all indications the Christmas mail for 1951 appears to be headed for an all-time high. He is afraid that those gift packages and Christmas cards may not arrive in time for Christmas if they are not mailed immediately.

"Every possible preparation has been made to take care of the expected record breaking flood of Christmas cards and gifts," the postmaster declared, "but time is now of the essence."

All gifts to be mailed by parcel post should be sent immediately. Christmas cards for out-of-state delivery should be mailed by Saturday. After that date, the traffic thins, say airmail—or start sending Happy New Year cards!

Christmas cards for city delivery should be mailed at least a week before Christmas day and the postmaster says to be sure and send them first-class mail.

Grangers Can Popcorn for Servicemen

Popcorn for men in Korea was canned Thursday night by members of the Twin Falls Grange in cooperation with the Red Cross. Assisting with the canning were, left to right, Archie Poe, Clifford Davis, Noah Oliver, Grange master, and I. T. (Pete) Creed operating the sealing machine. Corn was provided by the Southern Idaho Popcorn growers and Donald V. Higbie, Buhl. (Staff photo-engraving)

600 Pounds of Popcorn Are Canned for Shipment to Servicemen in Korean War

Approximately 600 pounds of popcorn were canned Thursday night by Twin Falls Grange members and should arrive in Korea in about three weeks under a Red Cross program for servicemen.

The corn was donated by Southern Idaho Growers, Buhl, and Donald V. Higbie, Buhl. Transportation to Red Cross headquarters in San Francisco is being donated by the Ford Transfer and Storage company.

Following some six weeks' investigation of procedure, 500 pounds of popcorn were sent to Korea in July. About 30 letters were received from servicemen who were given popcorn by chaplains. One colonel wrote it was the first time in his 40 years of service that he had seen popcorn sent to servicemen.

Typical of letters Higbie has received is this one, written on a letterhead of the first marine air wing:

"One of the things I miss most from home is my nightly bowl of popcorn while I read in bed.

"You can imagine how pleased I was to receive a can of Red Cross popcorn, through the chaplain yesterday, and how swell it tasted after being popped in a mess kit.

"Upon finding a note inside with your name and address I thought it would be proper to express thanks, not only for myself but all of the fellows over here, to you who make the Red Cross what it is today.

"We appreciate more than you'll ever know."

The letter was signed by Sgt. Robert Pearson.

Giant Dredge Is Sought for Cascade Area

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Fred Baumhoff, Centerville, said today he was negotiating for construction of a $1,000,000 dredge capable of digging up to 100 feet into the earth.

The big dredge would be used to dig out rich monazite sands in the Cascade area.

Meanwhile Charles R. Lindsay, III, president of the Lindsay Light and Chemical company, West Chicago, Ill., said if the Idaho supply of monazite were shut off "it would virtually put the industry out of business."

Encouraging Production

The Lindsay company is a pioneer in development of the so-called rare earths and thorium, all obtained from monazite.

Lindsay said he was here to encourage Baumoff to increase his production.

Cigarette lighter flints, lights for movie projection and jet engines are dependent upon monazite. Rare earths are being widely alloyed with steel and precision lenses are being ground with rare earths.

No Foreign Supply

Lindsay said before World war II his company obtained most of its monazite from India. During the war, the firm turned to Brizil, but embargoes in these countries have virtually cut off the foreign supply.

Lindsay said the reserves of monazite in the Cascade area exceed those in Brizil and India.

Baumhoff now has a dredge operating in the Cascade area and will ship about 1,000 tons of monazite to the Lindsay company this year.

compliishments as conditions to United States aid."

In other resolutions, the federation declared:

"All economic groups, including labor unions, should be subject to the fundamental concepts of the anti-trust laws."

"For the mobilization period, we recommend temporary amendment of the fair labor standards act to provide a 48-hour basic work week."

"We favor legislation to eliminate 'fair trade' pricing provisions of law."

Rap Supports

"We do not believe that action to raise the level of price support above that now provided in the agricultural act of 1949 is in the long-run interest of farm people."

"Payment for practices which have become a normal and accepted part of farming operations of the area in which the farm is located should be discontinued."

In another resolution, it urged that a civilian military training program be expanded through the reserve branches of the service, continuation of selective service, and expansion of college and university ROTC programs.

Opposes UMT

It opposed universal military training.

On economic policies during the defense build-up period, the federation opposed "unnecessary government controls" but approved allocations and priorities for scarce materials. It urged immediate stockpiling of "critical materials such as copper."

"Government spending must be paid for, either by taxes or by inflation," a resolution said. "We prefer to pay it with taxes. . . . we must continue to pay high taxes, but we also must bring government expenditures under control."

President Allen B. Kline, Vinton, Ia., vice president Romeo E. Short, Brinkley, Ark., and all other officers of the federation were reelected with the exception of one director from the midwestern region. Charles Marshall, Lincoln, Nebr., was chosen to the board to replace Herman A. Praeger, Claflin, Kans.

Awards Planned For Party Here

Consolidated Freightways' traditional safety and service award dinner and Christmas party for Twin Falls employes and guests at the Turf club Saturday night is one of 61 similar events being held this week-end throughout the company's system.

About 40 employes and guests are expected to attend the Twin Falls dinner, according to Del Watkins, local agent.

The presentation of safety awards and recognition of those who have earned service pins throughout the year highlight these events, held annually each December.

Club to Meet

CASTLEFORD, Dec. 14—The Castleford Progressive 4-H club will meet after school Monday at the home of Linda Grayheal.

Officers were elected at the last meeting of the club. Gary Knudsen is president, Joy Wisecaver, vice president; Wanda Wisecaver, secretary-treasurer, and Sally Thompson, reporter. Club projects include dairy, sheep, swine and poultry.

Civilian Goods Cuts Predicted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Mobilization chiefs have issued their strongest warning that many less automobiles and refrigerators will be built throughout next year and unemployment may rise in some sections.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson told the National Press club that manufacturers of civilian goods will get only about 80 per cent of their usual amounts of critical metals during the first three months of the year.

Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann simultaneously said in a separate news conference that "substantial" additional cutbacks will be necessary in April, May and June.

ELECTED

BUHL, Dec. 14—Norma Jean Ali, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Ali, Buhl, has been elected president of Pi Delta Sigma at the Eastern Washington College of Education at Cheney, Wash. She is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity.

Truman Gets More Digs at Press People

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP) — President Truman took a few new digs at the press yesterday, particularly at a woman reporter in a new hat who looked at him in a way he thought odd.

Mr. Truman also discussed the Korean truce talks and put that whole subject off the record—in the presence of a reporter for Tass, the official Soviet news agency, and a reporter for the Communist Daily Worker.

Caught His Eye

The woman reporter in the new hat who caught Mr. Truman's eye at his news conference was columnist Doris Fleeson of the Bell syndicate.

The President had just said that his administration had always taken action against wrongdoers in the government. Then he paused, looked at Miss Fleeson. He seemed to get the impression that she was registering skepticism.

What, he said, was she looking at him like that for?

How's That??

Miss Fleeson blinked. The President said maybe she had one of those sob stories of hers in mind, and he didn't think any sob stories were needed.

Later, Miss Fleeson commented:

"I wasn't aware that I was looking at the President in any special way. I was just trying to concentrate on my job, sorting out in my mind what he said.

"Some of it seemed contradictory to me, of course, as it did to other reporters.

New Bonnet, too

"But," she said, "as for how I was looking—I thought I looked pretty good. I had a new Sally Victor hat on."

In her column Wednesday, Miss Fleeson had written about the mushrooming tax scandals and observed that Mr. Truman was in a position to appreciate philosopher Hobbes' description of hell as "the truth seen too late."

The President jabbed at his newspaper critics on a broader scale by saying that Chairman Frank McKinney of the Democratic national committee, under fire for a 68-to-1 profit in a stock deal, suits him down to the ground.

PTA TO MEET

HOLLISTER, Dec. 14—The Hollister PTA will meet at 8 p. m. Monday at the school. Mrs. Anne Knight, public health nurse, will be the speaker.

Cattle Prices Dip On Burley Mart

BURLEY, Dec. 14—A heavy run of livestock was reported Thursday at the Burley livestock commission company sale with hogs steady to higher but cattle and lambs lower.

Total sales were 1,395. No feed lot cattle were offered in car lots. There will be no sale Christmas week.

The best whiteface steers brought $31.50 to $32.70, best whiteface heifers $28 to $30, best whiteface cows $22 to $24, plain whiteface steers $25 to $28, fleshy Holstein steers $24 to $26, feeder Holstein steers $22 to $23.50, common Holstein feeder steers $20 to $21, whiteface steer calves $120 to $157.50 a head, whiteface heifer calves $100 to $126 per head, bulls $23 to $27.10 with the light kind ranging down to $21.50.

Hogs weighing between 190 and 225 pounds ranged from $18 to $19 with the bulk bringing $18.50. Sows were $13.50 to $15, fat and feeder lambs $27 to $27.50, ewes $8 to $11 and horses three cents and up.

Price Ceilings for Hides Rolled Back

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The government has rolled back price ceilings on cattle hides, calfskins, carpeting and rugs.

But price controllers said the action is not expected to have any effect on current market prices for these products. Generally they have been selling at levels below the new ceilings.

AREA SOLDIERS RETURN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14 (AP) — Four Magic Valley soldiers were among eight Idahoans who returned yesterday from Korean service on a big troopship which brought back 2,000 American soldiers from Asiatic duty. They are Cpl. Earl P. Hubbard, Elba; Sgt. Earl J. McLaws, Burley; Cpl. James M. Smith, Twin Falls, and Cpl. George R. Weaver, Carey.

Danger Ends On Brownout Need in Area

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 14 (AP)—Bonneville Power Administrator Paul Raver says he believes the threat of a power brownout in the Pacific northwest is past.

Speaking before the Columbia basin interagency meeting, Dr. Raver said he felt "all firm and interruptable power loads can be carried through the remainder of the season."

"But it does not appear that any further heavy curtailment of energy will be necessary, if there are minor power shortages, these can be handled by cutting interruptable loads."

He also predicted that federal control of northwest power would end next month—three months ahead of the schedule set up when the Tacoma, Wash., office was created to handle northwest power.

The Bonneville boss said fall rains supported a government decision to take a "calculated risk" on supply power to industry even though the power would have been lost if there was a shortage.

He said the risk paid off. The U. S. added 73,000 tons of aluminum to the 1950 defense supply that we would not have otherwise had, and this year another 93,000 tons will be added because of the risk decision.

Housing Okayed For Area Airbase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The housing and home finance agency announces approval of the use of 400 temporary portable dwelling units in the Mountain Home, Ida., area.

Notifying the office of Senator Dworshak, R., Ida., of the action, the agency said the units include trailers, portable homes, and prefabricated houses. They will be installed by the public housing administration.

"Why should I try another whiskey?"

A good question with a good answer... that will add to your whiskey-wisdom and enjoyment.

We don't blame you one bit for not buying every new brand of whiskey that comes to town.

Chances are you're fairly well satisfied with what you're now drinking.

Why change?

But, honestly, can't there always be the possibility that you might do better? In the past, you've probably changed your brand—in coffee, or cigarettes, for example—because you tried something that you were told was better... and it turned out that way!

Well, that's just what happened to thousands... when they tried Carstairs for the first time.

Here's what they discovered!

They found Carstairs tasted smoother and mellower... that it cost less than other fine whiskies.

Try it and convince yourself!

When you want fine whiskey—try Carstairs. You'll find it's a better drink at a better price!

This Ford F-7 Van equipped with POWER PILOT traveled over 19,000 miles in the big Ford Truck Economy Run. Much of this mileage was over "the divide!" A tough test for any truck!

Availability of equipment, accessories and trim as illustrated is dependent on material supply conditions.

Frank Sikonia, of Butte, Montana, says: "Delivering fresh milk daily calls for a truck that is completely dependable. In addition, the truck must be easy to handle, time-saving and economical. My Ford F-7 has all these qualities!"

See "FORD FESTIVAL," starring James Melton on NBC-TV.

The '51 Ford F-6 with special milk body, is also a great favorite of delivery men. You get a choice of 3 great Ford engines—the 95-h.p. Six, 100-h.p. V-8 or the 110-h.p. Big Six. Two fine cabs for greater driving ease—the 5-STAR or (at slight added cost) the 5-STAR EXTRA.

"On my milk route over the divide, I run my F-7 for 4.2/10¢ a mile!"

Frank Sikonia says: "My 1950 Ford F-7 holds the road well on mountain roads and turns easily in the cramped quarters of farmyards. During the Ford Economy Run, the truck traveled 19,846 miles. The total cost for gas, oil, and maintenance came to only $833.38. That's a running cost of only 4.20¢ a mile!"

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Getting the thing a child wants most for Christmas is often a problem. "What shall we give Dick? Last year he got a bicycle, so that's out—" and the whole list of possibilities is gone over and over in hope of finding the one right answer.

I like to think of the traditional Christmas gifts. When the three wise men presented the Child with the first Christmas gifts ever offered they gave him one for the body, one for the spirit, and one for material use, a very good plan to this day.

The one I always choose first is one for the spirit, a good book. That is the best gift a child of any age can receive. To begin the all with children delight in a story. The one that is told him is wonderful in the telling but when the voice of the storyteller fades out and the child draws a long sigh of contentment, that ends it. When the story is in a book which he can read for himself, he can have that pleasure and profit over and over again.

To a child, a book that he can take up any time he feels like doing so becomes a very personal belonging, much like an intimate friend. In times of distress he can take up his book and forget his troubles. Weary, he can change his thought by opening his book and entering a world of fancy where his spirit moves freely on its wings.

Some children like informative books—how-to-do, how things are made; some like tales of far-off lands; some enjoy historic tales. All like books that free the imagination, with a hint of romance or of fairyland. To each his own at Christmas time.

Some of my favorites, proven through the years to be favorites of all children, are: Treasure Island, Heidi, Kidnapped, Little Women, David Copperfield, Later ones, Toni of the Iron Hand, The Trumpeter, Seventeen.

For the very young children, Mother Goose comes first and stays longest. Picture books are low priced and lovlier than ever, and there are art books, containing copies of old masters, that are a joy to possess and which will last a lifetime.

Just any book won't do. The right one must be searched for because it has to suit the child's ability to use it, his taste, his interests. The right one will be the finest gift a child can find under the tree Christmas morning. Do remember to get it.

Starting while children are young is the secret of developing the correct routine for successful adulthood. Dr. Patri gives helpful advice in his leaflet "Useful Habits." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

College Officials Take Big Steps To Control Sports

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The abolishment of all post-season football bowl games was recommended unanimously today by 10 college presidents studying intercollegiate sports. The recommendation was part of a proposed program which would supervise the athlete from high school until he finishes college.

John L. Hannah, president of Michigan State college and chairman of the committee, said the educators wede all agreed that:

1. Sports competition should be confined to the season. Football should be played between September and around Dec. 1. "Cut go the bowls," Dr. Hannah said.

2. "Less big time entertainment" of prospective sports stars should be strictly prohibited.

3. Freshmen should be barred from varsity teams.

4. College athletes should be made to keep up with their classes, with grades good enough to get them a degree at the end of four years. Those who can't keep up the pace should not be allowed to compete.

5. Booster and alumni clubs should not be allowed to give scholarship aid directly to athletes. The schools themselves should handle all funds.

The penalty proposed for breaking the rules: Any violator would be jeopardizing his academic standing.

The committee was named by the American council on education to study what is wrong with sports—and to find a cure.

Oddly, the American council on education has no power to enforce its decisions. But Hannah said at a previous news conference that the council is made up of almost all educational associations, universities and colleges in the country. Its influence is so great, he said, that any decision it reaches carried great weight.

Enforcement would be left up to the nation's five accrediting organizations, which set standards not only for the colleges and universities but also for the high schools.

They are the north central, the middle states, the New England, the northwest and the southern associations. All belong to the American council of education, and representatives of each will be at the committee's next meeting.

What if a school doesn't want to go along with the program, and ignores it after it has been accepted? Hannah was asked.

"A knowing violation of an accrediting ruling is a very serious breach," Hannah said.

The presidents began their studies at a time when college sports were rocked by bribery and cribbing scandals.

They came up with the first of their answers. There was no formal report, and several fields still remain in which no agreement has been reached. The presidents also could change their minds on some points, Hannah said, before a written report is made.

These college presidents were present today:

Dr. Hannah; the Rev. Father John J. Cavanaugh, Notre Dame; A. Whitney Griswold, Yale; Dr. O. Gustavson, Nebraska; John L. Flyler, Furman; Umphrey Lee, Southern Methodist; Victor L. Butterfield, Wesleyan college in Connecticut; John D. Williams, Mississippi; John S. Mills, Western Reserve, and Albert Ray Olpin, Utah.

Raymond B. Allen, president of the University of Washington, sat in on the opening meeting last month, but did not attend the current sessions.

Hannah told a news conference he hopes the entire program can be worked out within a month. He said it might be completed at a meeting here Jan. 6-7.

Assistant Idaho Grid Coach Gets Lost in Woods

MOSCOW, Dec. 14 (AP)—An assistant University of Idaho football coach learned what it is to be all alone in the deep woods of northern Idaho Wednesday night.

John Nikcevich, who came here last spring from California, was lost while hunting elk in eastern Latah county. He was missing for nearly 11 hours, and finally was found at 1 a. m. by two Bovill residents, part of a searching party which included six members of the Idaho football team and other members of the coaching staff.

Nikcevich failed to return to an agreed place at dark when he separated from two other hunters, Dick Wartena and Wayne Hammond, both of Moscow.

They gave the alarm at 7 p. m. Coaches Mack Finniken and Frank Young organized the searching party shortly afterwards.

The assistant coach was found at 1 a. m. by Clay Gustin and Donald Ross. Nikcevich was tired but otherwise none the worse for his experience.

DiMag Turns in Glove

Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee Clipper, hangs up his glove for the last time as he announces his decision to retire as an active player. Concerned bystanders at the Yankee office in New York are, left to right, Casey Stengel and owners Dan Topping, background, and Del Webb. (NEA telephoto)

Joe DiMaggio Started Life With Ambition Set on Being Net Star

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (U.P.)—Kids are funny to figure.

Like Joe DiMaggio, for example, who wanted to be a champion tennis player in his 'teens. Shy, dark-haired Joe didn't know exactly what fascinated him about the net game but it looked like a lot of fun. Besides that word "champion" had a nice ring to it. "H-m-m-m," mused the quiet youngster idly, "Bill Tilden . . . Vinnie Richards . . . Bill Johnston . . . Joe DiMaggio."

Why, sure, it seemed to fit okay.

When Joe told that ambition to his older brother Vince, he was laughed at.

"Baseball's the game, Joe," said Vince, playfully rumpling the hair of his kid brother, "baseball, not tennis."

Little Joe DiMaggio was a lot easier to impress those days than he is today. If Vince said baseball, there must have been something to it.

So Joe fooled around with a baseball a bit but he also played softball, football and basketball.

In between times, he'd peddle papers on the street corner along with his younger brother, Dominic, who was by far the better businessman of the two.

Joe always was looking for a way to help his parents although he begged off working with his father on the fishing boat. The waves made Joe sick to his stomach every time he'd set foot on a boat. And so San Francisco lost a potential fisherman.

"Say, Joe," Vince announced one day, "I hear where there's a job open at the orange juice company."

"I'll go over there and take a look," the kid brother replied, as kindly-faced mama DiMaggio beamed.

So Joe went over to "take a look." He still remembers it, too.

"I lasted one day at that job," he recalls with a grin. "I peeled oranges until I got blue in the face. I made $2.50 for the day and that was it. I quit. I had enough."

Joe was going to high school now, and being no social lion, most of his off hours were spent playing either baseball or basketball. By this time Vince was doing quite well with the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league.

Vince came home one night and said to Joe, "I'm taking you out to the ball park tomorrow for a tryout. Just relax and do your best. You'll be all right."

The idea was a little frightening but Joe, going on the theory that he had nothing to lose, mumbled okay.

As he recalls, he got a good night's sleep that night and wasn't at all excited about the prospect of the dawn.

Jack Lohrke Is Traded to Phils

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP)—Jack Lohrke, utility infielder with the New York Giants for the past four seasons, was traded to the Philadelphia Phils Thursday for pitcher Jake Schmitz, a southpaw.

Lohrke, who appeared in only 23 games last year and hit .200, played for the Twin Falls Cowboys in 1942.

Busy Day

A busy day has been lined up here Monday for Babe Curfman, head football coach at the University of Idaho.

In addition to speaking at the annual Bruin Boosters club banquet honoring Twin Falls high school athletes, the Vandal coach will address a luncheon meeting of Twin Falls Vandal Boosters at noon.

Ben Mottern, president of the Vandal Booster club, said Curfman will address the luncheon scheduled at the Rogerson hotel. All club members and interested Idaho alumni are invited.

Curfman also is scheduled to confer with several coaches in the area Monday. Curfman will fly into Twin Falls from Carmel, Calif., where he is attending meetings of the Pacific Coast conference.

Wyoming Fans Await Opener On New Floor

LARAMIE, Wyo., Dec. 14 (AP)—Basketball, which gives Wyoming as much renown as its prize cattle, reaches a new peak in Laramie tonight.

Four top-flight teams are matched in a dedication series inaugurating play in a plush, new $1,100,000 war memorial field house.

Wyoming university's Cowboys, picked to win the Skyline conference title this season, have invited Indiana of the Big 10, St. Mary's of California and Colorado A and M, another Skyline club, for the basketball doubleheaders Friday and Saturday nights.

Indiana plays Colorado A and M in the opener and Wyoming meets St. Mary's. Saturday night A and M plays St. Mary's in the first game and Wyoming goes against Indiana in the windup. The series is not a tournament and there will be no champion.

Laramie, a town of 15,407 noted for its unbridled enthusiasm for the cage sport, has worked up a big head of steam for the event. About 10,000 fans are expected for the games. More than half of them will be from out of town. Most of them will drive hundreds of miles over the wind-blown Wyoming plains to see their favorite Cowboys.

Fight Circles Set Sights on Gavilan Match

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP)—Busy Kid Gavilan makes another excursion into the middleweight class Friday night to meet Walter Cartier, a stiff puncher from New York's Greenwich village, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Because Gavilan fought a lackluster draw against Johnny Bratton in his last start, the welter champ is only a 6 to 5 favorite in this non-title battle, scheduled for 8 p.m. and with full radio coverage.

The odds may be slightly off base. Many boxing men figure the Cuban keed too fast and clever for a standup boxer like Cartier. Although Cartier throws a rugged punch, Gavilan's iron jaw can take the best. Only Ike Williams was able to knock him down in 93 fights.

Cartier won many friends by his gallant battle with Eugene Hairston, May 11, in the Garden ring. The handsome lad was down for a nine-count in the first and again in the second. At the end he had Hairston on the deck with the count at eight when the final bell rang.

Gavilan has an unbeaten string of 14, winning 13 in a row until the Bratton draw at Chicago Nov. 28. His record is 77-12-4 for 93 pro fights. Nobody ever stopped him.

Coast Conference Votes to Outlaw Spring Practices

CARMEL, Calif., Dec. 14 (AP)—The Pacific Coast conference decided Thursday to seek elimination of spring football practice. In the final session of its winter meeting, the conference appointed its commissioner, Victor O. Schmidt, delegate to the National Collegiate Athletic association convention in Cincinnati next month. It instructed him to support elimination of the spring drills.

The PCC already is on record as favoring abandonment of non-seasonal football practice. However, a plan to do away with the spring activity was tabled at the meeting here until such action is taken by the NCAA.

By mutual agreement with the Big 10, the annual Big 10-PCC track meet was canceled for 1952. The meet usually is held late in June. But officials decided it would put too much pressure on athletes to hold it this year in view of the NCAA meet at Berkeley June 13-14, the AAU meet at Long Beach June 20-21, and the Olympic trials at Los Angeles June 27-28.

Three cases concerning violations of rules in recruiting and proselyting were referred to the university presidents under the conference's new system of top-level investigation. One case involved a coach's alleged illegal interview off the campus, another concerned entertainment of prospective athletes and another case involving an interview with an athlete.

The presidents must report back to the conference at its next meeting at Portland June 6 to 12.

Many other cases of alleged violations were deemed already adequately punished at the schools where they occurred. They included overextended practice, extra training table, failure to "abate" alumni, excessive complimentary tickets to players and other charges.

The conference chose Dean Orland J. Hollis, Oregon, to succeed himself as president and elected Prof. John Hurlbut, Stanford, as secretary. Prof. David Bjork, UCLA, was named to the commissioners advisory committee.

Matthews Kayos Henri in Second

OMAHA, Nebr., Dec. 14 (AP)—Harry (Kid) Matthews, Seattle, scored a second round knockout over Art Henri, New York City, in a heavyweight bout here Thursday night.

Matthews, second ranked puncher in the light heavyweight division, battered his heavier opponent with a flurry of lefts and rights before connecting with a finishing right cross at 2:17 gone in the round.

It was the 67th straight fight without a defeat for Matthews, who has said he is going after the heavyweight championship.

Matthews weighed 178 and Henri 189.

It was the fourth defeat against four wins for Henri this year. One of his losses was a ninth round TKO at the hands of Rocky Marciano.

GIANTS DROP RADIO

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP)—The New York Giants announced Thursday they would not contract for any game-of-the-day or network distribution of their 1952 games. The Yankees announced a similar plan last week.

Bengals Drop 52-49 Clash To Coast Team

POCATELLO, Dec. 14 (AP)—Sacramento State stole a brief lead in the second quarter Thursday night and then held off a fighting Idaho State quintet during a nip and tuck second half to snag a 52-49 victory.

The intersectional basketball contest was the first of a two game series between the squads. They play again Friday night.

It was an Idaho State show for the first five and one half minutes.

Then Bob Skeen potted Sacramento State's first field goal. The visitors forged a lead in the second quarter on a field goal by Herb Jotter.

Idaho State trailed 26-21 at halftime.

Sacramento State, on the sharpshooting of Carl Youngstrom and Tom Brian, assumed the lead in the fourth and held it to the finish.

Neutral Nations Alerted in Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The United States has alerted three nations—Sweden, Norway and Switzerland—that they may be proposed as members of "non-belligerent" inspection teams in event of an armistice in Korea.

The proposed teams would maintain a check on whether the communists, on the one hand, and the United Nations forces, on the other were abiding by the armistice terms.

The approach to the three nations was made through their ambassadors here yesterday by John D. Hickerson, assistant secretary of state for United Nations affairs.

Hickerson, it was learned, told the ambassadors the United States would like to know whether their governments had any objections to participation on an inspection commission.

Grain

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP)—Grains tumbled for losses ranging to a couple of cents on the board of trade today, influenced in part by action of other commodity markets and rumors Great Britain would devalue sterling. The rumors were officially denied.

Selling pressure was light until about the last 15 minutes, when the desire to get out of grains increased. Prices fell back quite sharply in this period, generally ending at the lows for the day. Small export business and a midwestern snow storm brought in a little buying.

Father of Ace Won't Get in Any Airplane

LUBBOCK, Tex., Dec. 14 (AP)—The father of America's foremost jet plane ace won't get into an airplane.

"A merry-go-round makes me dizzy," George A. Davis, sr., of Hale Center declares.

But with Maj. George A. Davis, jr., 31, who ran his total kill of red planes to 12 today in Korea, it has been a different story.

Mrs. Davis said her son as a boy took two flights with a barnstorming pilot and declared he believed he "could fly that thing."

One of eight children, the ranking American air ace was reared on a west Texas farm and then attended Harding college at Searcy, Ark.

During World war II he flew 226 missions and became an ace, shooting down seven Jap planes. After the war he remained in the air force.

Major Davis served advance warning on the reds when he was at the Las Vegas gunnery school. There the eagle-eyed Texan shot better than 96 to set a new record.

He left for Korea Sept. 27 and flew his first combat mission in late October.

Home to Major Davis is Lubbock where his wife and two children, Mary Margaret, 7, and George, 19 months old, live. They are expecting their third baby in May.

Elks Plan Drive For Blood Bank

BURLEY, Dec. 14—Cooperating with the national Elks armed forces blood campaign, the Burley Elks lodge is preparing to meet its quota of 150 pints of blood when the bloodmobile is set up Monday at the Elks lodge.

The Elks have promised to supply 1,000,000 pints of blood for the fighting forces by next July. This is one-third of the national goal sought by the armed forces. State quotas have been based on the ratio of state membership to total membership.

The local Elks blood campaign is being carried out under the direction of a committee composed of R. L. Pence, secretary of the local lodge, William H. Foster and Don Grayot. An effort to contact all Elks is under way. Blood received from Elks, Elks families and friends of Elks, so designated, goes only to the armed forces.

Divorce Is Asked For Buhl Woman

Mrs. Ruth Morse, Buhl, filed suit for divorce in district court Friday against Robert L. Morse, also Buhl, charging cruel and inhuman treatment, including allegations that he struck her and has failed to pay debts.

According to the complaint, the couple was married in Buhl Sept. 16, 1941, and has no children. Community property includes real estate in Buhl valued at $3,000, household goods valued at $1,500 and a 1951 Chevrolet truck, valued at $3,000 with $2,000 due.

Mrs. Morse asks $250 for attorneys' fees if the action is contested, and $150 if it is not contested. She asks real estate and furniture but is willing to give her husband the truck. She asks an order restraining him from disposing of the property.

Attorneys for Mrs. Morse are Rayborn and Rayborn and Douglas Kramer.

Three Items Put On Meet Agenda

City commissioners will have three special items on their agenda of business Monday night, Chairman R. J. Schwendiman announces.

The board will give its first consideration to an ordinance dealing with sale of unclaimed personal property held for some months. This will apply particularly to bicycles whose owners police have been unable to locate despite every effort, the chairman said.

Other special business includes opening of bids for a new police car, and the third reading of an ordinance changing fee for building permits in certain categories of estimated costs.
